- In the first picture, I can see some people. They are running on the road/way in the countryside. They look happy. The weather is very nice and good for outdoor activities. (The landscape is very beautiful).
- In the second picture, I can see two people. They are doing yoga indoors. They look focused.

2. What are the advantages (=benefits) of exercising outdoors compared to indoors?

Part 3: In this part, I'm going to ask you to compare two pictures, and I will then ask you two questions about them. You will have 45 seconds for each response.

1. Tell me what you can see in these two pictures.

The two pictures show people in different places
(The two pictures show people travelling in different ways)

- In the first picture, I can see a man. He is riding a camel in the desert. He is wearing traditional clothes. The weather is very hot. The sun is shining (brightly)
- In the second picture, I can see a man. He is travelling with a horse in the countryside. He is wearing a suit and a hat. I can see many trees. The weather is very nice and perfect for outdoor activities.

2. What are the interesting points of the vehicle experience in the 2 ways of traveling above?

- Both ways of travelling have different attractions, depending on people's interests and situations.
- Riding a camel is suitable for travelling in the desert. Travelling with a horse is faster and suitable in the countryside or in the mountains.
- Both ways are interesting and special

3. Should animals be treated like a means of transportation?

- People may have different ideas about this
- Some people think that animals should be treated like a means of transportation.
- In my opinion, animals should not be treated like a means of transportation. There are some reasons for this. First, we can travel by cars, motorbike or bus. They are fast, convenient and comfortable. (Second, animals are living things. They feel tired when they have to work hard. We should not take use of animals)

Part 3: In this part, I'm going to ask you to compare two pictures, and I will then ask you two questions about them. You will have 45 seconds for each response.

1. Tell me what you can see in these two pictures.

- The two pictures show different places
- In the first picture, I can see a big city by the sea. There are many buildings. They are beautiful and modern. The weather is very nice. It is sunny and perfect outdoor activities.
- In the second picture, I can see a road in the mountain. There are many trees along/by the road. The weather is very cold because I can see a lot of snow on the road.

2. Which of these two places would you prefer to visit for a holiday?

- Both places have different attractions, depending on people's interests.
- Some people like visiting the second place because they want to see the snow.
- For me, I prefer the first place because it is beautiful. The weather is very nice and good for outdoor activities. Besides, I like swimming and eating seafood. It is delicious and healthy.
- I don't like the second place because it is too cold and boring.

3. How can extreme weather conditions affect people's travel plans?

- I think extreme weather conditions can affect people's travel plans. For example, when the weather is too cold or too hot, people don't go out because they feel tired. Or there is storm, the flights can be cancelled and the roads can be dangerous.
